love Candy Cushion

by Vicki Runnegar

This is an easy project for someone with basic sewing skills. It is based on the Love Candy Cushion fabric that I deigned. 1 yard of fabric will get you 2 cushions. There are 4 designs over 2 fabrics choose from. This is a fun project, your giant Love Candy would look great in a kids room or as a valentines day gift.

WHAT YOU NEED

- 1 yard of Love Candy Cushion fabric from Spoonflower.
- Hobby fill

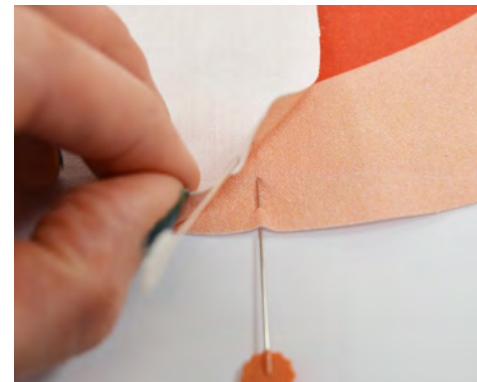

Cut out the 3 pattern pieces.

Now with the rectangular centre piece, place a pin 1/2 inch from the end.

You now have 3 pieces, the front, the back and centre piece.

Align the pin on the centre piece and the centre piece.

Fold the front piece in half from left to right and place a pin at the centre bottom.

With right sides facing, pin the long edge of the centre piece around the circumference of the front piece.

Sew from the the first pin around the circumference until you meet the first pin, there should be 1/2 inch of fabric overhang at the beginning and end of sewing. Repeat this process for the back piece.

Snip at regular intervals from the outer edge toward the seam (don't snip the seam though) around the front and back of the entire cushion

Here is what the opening should look like.

Turn your cushion through, use something blunt like a chopstick or the end of a pencil to smooth out seams from the inside.

Here is what your cushion should look like.

Iron

Stuff with hobby fill until you are happy with the density.

Using matching thread, hand sew the opening closed.

Give it another iron.

Now your cushion is all finished!

Pin closed the opening.

Here is the back.

Congratulations! You did it.
